The “Pedigree of Animal Breeders” was launched in March '08 by the ISU AB&G group. The purpose of the Pedigree of Animal Breeders is to compile information on people across the globe with a graduate degree in animal breeding and genetics and related fields, for the purpose of constructing 'academic pedigrees' and related information. To establish the pedigree of animal breeders, a website was created (www.animalgenome.org/lush) that allows breeders across the world to enter and update information on themselves, their colleagues, and their academic 'ancestors,' 'sibs,' and 'progeny.' The website will ultimately allow participants to view and print academic pedigrees. This is under construction.
